SITE PROPOSALS

State Register of Cultural Properties and National Register of Historic Places

Parkland Hills Historic District (Bernalillo County)

John Gaw Meem Architects Office (Santa Fe County)

Agua Fria Schoolhouse Site (Santa Fe County)

Auto – Oriented Commercial Development in Albuquerque, New Mexico 1957-1969

Parkland Hills Historic District (Bernalillo County)

Parkland Hills Historic District is significant at the local level under National Register Criterion A in the area of community planning and development because it is a rare and excellent example of a City Beautiful-type plan in Albuquerque, laid out in an automobile suburb on the city's East Mesa. Parkland Hills Historic District is significant at the local level under National Register Criterion C in the area of landscape architecture because its distinctive landscape plan derives from the City Beautiful movement, which was popular in the first decades of the 20th century. Parkland Hills is significant at the local level under National Register Criterion C in the area of architecture because its diverse architectural styles and house types from the 1920s to 1967, which span a period greater than most postwar suburbs built on the East Mesa.

- Member Dr. Bandy moved to approve the nomination for listing on the State Register and forward to the Keeper of the National Register.
- Member Boggess seconded, and the motion was passed unanimously.

John Gaw Meem Architects Office (Santa Fe County)

The John Gaw Meem Architects Office is eligible at the state level under National Register Criterion C in the area of architecture because it is a rare and excellent example of an architect house and studio in a state where few architects offices from the 20th century are known to survive. The John Gaw Meem Architects Office is eligible at the state level under National Register Criterion B because the Architects Office is the building most closely associated with Meem's professional life, spanning nearly a thirty-year period, between 1930 and 1959. The John Gaw Meem Architects Office meets the registration requirements described in the multiple property submission, "Buildings Designed by John Gaw Meem, 1925-1959," for its association with Meem during the period from 1930 to 1959. The period from 1960 to 1967 represents the period following Meem's retirement when the office was occupied the successor firm, Edward Holien & William Buckley, and is not represented in the multiple property submission.

- Member Toya moved to approve the nomination for listing on the State Register and forward to the Keeper of the National Register.
- Member Purvis seconded, and the motion was passed unanimously.

Agua Fria Schoolhouse Site (Santa Fe County)

The Agua Fria Schoolhouse site is eligible under National Register Criteria A, B, C, and D at the state and local levels of significance. The site is eligible under Criterion D in the in the area of prehistory because the site can and has yielded information important in prehistory and provides an opportunity to examine closely a Coalition and Classic period occupation within the Santa Fe River valley. The site is eligible under Criterion A because it is associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of prehistory, including but not limited to, population migration, redistribution, coalescence and aggregation; religion and ceremonialism; shifting regional trade and/or interaction spheres; and community formation and identification. The site is eligible under Criterion C because it embodies the distinctive characteristics of a ceramic type (Agua Fria Glaze-on-red) and settlement type (paired or sister communities, ladder type pueblo), and method of construction (coursed adobe), as well as possessing characteristic traits of a period (late Coalition through early Classic period). The site is eligible under Criterion B because it is associated with the lives of persons important in North American archeology, especially in the Southwest. The site was essential in the early work of prominent Southwest archaeologists A.V. Kidder, Stanley Stubbs, W.S. Stallings, and Harry P. Mera. All made substantive contributions to the archeology of both New Mexico and the greater Southwest.

- Member Dr. Bandy motion to approve under certain conditions and move to nominate and list on the State Register and forward to the Keeper of the National Register once those amendments have been developed.
- Motion by Interim -Chairman Richey requested a Roll Call Vote.
- Note Keeper -Annette Apodaca called out a Roll Call of all members, Toya, Purvis, Richey, Boggess and Dr. Bandy.
- All members voted and the motion passed unanimously.

Auto – Oriented Commercial Development in Albuquerque, New Mexico 1957-1969

Auto-oriented Commercial Development in Albuquerque, New Mexico, 1957-1969 (Additional Documentation)

This is additional documentation addresses the National Register Multiple Property Documentation Form entitled, “Auto-oriented Commercial Development in Albuquerque, New Mexico, 1916-1956,” prepared by Chris Wilson and listed in the National Register in 1997. The purpose of this documentation is twofold: (1) The additional documentation extends the period of significance from 1957 to 1969 and (2) The additional documentation expands the definition of Property Subtype H “Strip Center Buildings.”

- Member Purvis moved to approve the nomination as amended under multi- properties definition for listing on the State Register and forward to the Keeper of the National Register.
- Member Boggess seconded, and the motion was passed unanimously.

REPLACEMENT MARKERS/REVISED TEXT

Flynn Welch and Yates No. 3 Oil Well (Eddy County)

(SIDE 1) In the early 20th century Van S. Welch and Thomas Flynn managed a successful partnership in the Illinois Producers Co., an oil exploration company with wells in the Midwest, Oklahoma, Texas, and Wyoming. In 1923 the company drilled two unproductive wells south of Artesia. Martin Yates, Jr., joined the company, which then drilled three wildcat wells in 1923 and 1924 east of the Pecos River.

(SIDE 2) On April 9, 1924, the third well struck oil. The Flynn-Welch-Yates No. 3 became the first commercial oil well in southeastern New Mexico and the first on New Mexico State Trust Land. This discovery led to further exploration and extraction of vast amounts of oil and gas in the Permian Basin. Beginning in the mid-20th century through the first decades of the 21st, the oil and gas industry is among the largest sources of revenue for the state. In 2018 New Mexico ranked third in oil production in the United States.

- Member Toya moved to approve the replacement markers.
- Member Richey seconded, and the motion was passed unanimously.

Blackwater Draw (Roosevelt County)

Blackwater Draw is a National Historic Landmark commemorating the type-site of the Clovis Paleoindian culture. Evidence for early stone tools in the Americas was discovered here in 1929. Over 13,000 years ago, people hunted Columbian mammoth and bison with stone-tipped spears around a spring-fed lake. This site was revisited through time and repeatedly used for hunting and camping, making this one of the most significant archaeological sites in North America

- Member Boggess moved to approve upon receipt of edits to the proposed text.
- Member Dr. Bandy seconded, and the motion was passed unanimously.

Carrizozo Women's Club (Lincoln County)

(SIDE 1—Facing D Avenue) Woman's clubs play an important role in communities by providing volunteer opportunities, performing civic and social improvements, and establishing public buildings and parks. In New Mexico independent woman's clubs formed in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. The New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs was established in 1911 and is affiliated with the national General Federation of Women's Clubs founded in 1890. The Carrizozo Woman's Club was founded in 1920 and is a member of both federations. The club met in public buildings and members' houses before this building was constructed.

SIDE 2—Facing 11th Avenue The Carrizozo Woman's Club building serves as a gathering place for cultural, community, and social events. The building was constructed in 1939 with Works Progress Administration (WPA) funding and was designed by Jess C. Garrison, a local builder and WPA crew foreman. The building is an excellent example of Pueblo Revival-style architecture with its adobe construction, exposed vigas, and portal. The main meeting room, the Round Room, has an elaborate ceiling with exposed vigas radiating from a central point.

- Member Purvis moved to approve as amended.
- Member Dr. Bandy seconded, and the motion was passed unanimously.

El Valle Community Center (San Miguel County)

Villanueva, originally called La Cuesta, is one of the earliest Spanish colonial settlements along the Pecos River. The name was changed in 1890. In the 1940s, the Villanueva School was built, replacing a one-room schoolhouse. The school operated until the 1970s, when it was abandoned. Community efforts led to the revitalization of the building as the El Valle Community Center. The building houses the David F. Cargo Library, named for the former governor and used for community functions and educational activities.

- Member Toya moved to approve as amended, move for further discussion of location.
- Member Dr. Bandy seconded, and the motion was passed unanimously.

Committee Matters

Nominations and Report of Review Committees

The small committee which assisted with the nominations included: Dr. Jeff Pappas, Dr. Lynette Pollari, Michelle Ensey, Rick Reycraft and Bob Estes. The committee partnered with the CPRC board members to identify the selection of recipients and 250 word abstracts.

Lifetime Achievement Award: Katherine Wells (Reginald Richey, Michelle Ensey)

Process was easy for the Lifetime achievement award presented to Katherine Wells. Michelle Ensey promoted that fact that Katherine worked most of her life preserving petroglyphs; decades were donated to cataloging thousands of images and she donated 150 acres of her land to preserve for prosperity.

Architectural Heritage Preservation: Congregation B'nai Israel, Albuquerque, NM (Reginald Richey, Steve Moffson)

The Congregation of B'nai Israel was chosen for their continued efforts to preserve one of the most unique and iconic mid-century buildings in the greater Albuquerque area.

Archeological Heritage Award: Jemez Historic Site (Doug Boggess and Rick Reycraft)

Significant efforts have been made to bring public archaeology to New Mexico and promote the professional partnership between the Pueblo of Jemez and the New Mexico Historic Sites.

Heritage Publication Award: Imagine a City that Remembers Anthony Anella and Mark Childs (Matt Bandy and Jeff Pappas)

Good Publication Award, nominated by UNM Press – 1998. 20 yr. retrospect of different parts of Albuquerque, narratives, culture and re- photographed images. The book grew out of a series of articles and photographs published in the Albuquerque Tribune in 1998 and were updated in 2018.
